27-01-2006 Update on capture of French legal status data

From week 04/2006, manual processing of French data has been discontinued and replaced by the electronic capture of the legal status data.

As a result of the modernising of this procedure, we are in a position to deliver newer data much earlier than in the past. Formerly, the data was available a month or two after the legal event. Now we are able to access and process the data within seven to fourteen days.

And timeliness is not the only advantage of this newer form of data capture; additional legal status data is now also available for corrections and SPCs.
