code meaning

At any time within twelve months after sealing of a patent, any person interested who did not oppose the grant of the patent may apply to the comptroller for an order revoking the patent on one or more of the grounds upon which the grant of the patent could have been opposed. These grounds are: obtaining; prior publication/claiming/use; obviousness; insufficiency; not an invention; and for convention applications, the application not made in time. A notice of revocation on Form 39 signed by the applicant for revocation must be filed at the Patent Office and include the statutory grounds upon which the application is made. Within fourteen days of the notice a statement must be filed which sets out fully the applicant's interest, the facts relied upon and the relief sought. In the event the statement is not filed the application is considered as not having been launched and a notice in the Official Gazette advertises that the application is not to be proceeded with.
