code meaning

At any time after the expiration of three years from the date of the grant of a patent, any person may apply to the comptroller for 1) a licence under the patent, or 2) an entry in the register to the effect that licences of right are available under the patent, or 3) where the applicant is a government department, for the grant of a licence to a specific person. Under Section 48(3)(a) the grounds are that the patented invention is capable of being worked in the UK and that either that it is not being worked or that it is not being worked to its fullest extent that is reasonably practicable. The application is advertised in the Official Gazette and any person may oppose the application within three months of the date of publication of Official Gazette. Any opposition is heard by the comptroller and in the event that the application is refused this is also advertised.
